Dear friends and neighbours,

Winter is coming to an end and the first snowdrops are a wonderful reminder of spring. Green shoots are bravely rising from the cold earth, and the picture of the plough and seed on our front cover is a reminder of how we depend on farming, and its interactions with nature and the changing seasons, for our food. We are blessed to live in such a beautiful part of the world, and our patchwork landscape of fields and woods and hedgerows is the result of much blood, sweat and tears over the years. I am so thankful that so many of our farmers take their guardianship of the land seriously.

I have much to be grateful for, not least that we live in a community full of caring and loving people, with so many helping in so many different ways, either individually or through the many organisations, clubs and informal groups, giving generously of their time and talents. Thank you all!

And also thanks to all who either contribute to or distribute this magazine, including the advertisers. Without them there would be no magazine!

Best wishes Jo

Lezant Lunch Club at Christmas

Thirty four members of the Lezant Lunch Club were welcomed by Ken Scoble at Trebullett Hall on Wednesday 15th December when a delicious traditional Christmas lunch with fresh vegetables and all the trimmings was enjoyed. . A vegetarian alternative of beetroot fritters was prepared by Mary Synott. The traditional meal was prepared by Marilyn Davey, Ruth Burden, Irene Nash, Diana Anderson, Julie Dinnis and Carolyn Reynolds. Service was provided by Rebecca Gentry, Janet Lyle, Cynthia Jewel, Janet Docherty, Helen Judge, Mary Bridger and Janet Honey.

After coffee, members were entertained by a medley of Christmas songs performed by children from Trekenner School led by their teacher, Shelley Jeffery. A vote of thanks was given by Ann Foster. Before walking back to school the children went to look at the Angel Festival in the Chapel where they could spot the angels they had made.

The Lezant Lunch Club meets on the last Wednesday of each month. The next meal will be held on Wednesday 26th February. The cost to members will be £5 for two courses plus coffee. Please phone Ruth Burden on 01566 782286 to book a place. The January meal is on the 29th.

Trekelland Farmhouse

Witch marks – Renovation discoveries

Historical Context:

We purchased the farmhouse along with two ancient barns approximately 3 years ago from a member of the Basire family, who, in turn bought the farmhouse, buildings and surrounding land in 1966. Prior to that, we were told that the Budge family held the farmhouse and land for many generations. We have however established that the Hockin family lived at the farm and farmed the land in 1911. Earlier still, in 1897, a Statement of Return, under the Agricultural Rates Act 1896, detailed the tenant farmer as William Tink, whilst the owner of the farm was C.G. Archer Esq. The total acreage at that time was 171.2 acres. Before the late 19th century there is no clear information as to who owned or farmed the farm, although we understand that it was owned at one stage by the church, and then the Robartes family.

It would be interesting to speculate which of the past owners or tenants had felt sufficiently concerned about the power of witches or evil spirits, that they felt it necessary to install some means of protection within their home.

Witch Marks ‘Virgo Virginum’ and Crescent moon:

Whilst renovating the first-floor room, which had been described as the ‘old Granary’, we began to clear off decades of lime wash from what turned out to be a wall constructed of solid slate stone panels. Each panel was approximately 3 inches thick, 6ft. high and 30 inches wide. Each slate is set into an oak surround. The slate wall runs across the full width of the farmhouse. In the top corner of one panel was a mark VV inverted. It had been carved deeply into the slate. We noticed, in addition, some strange crescent shaped marks on a roof beam, within the same proximity.

Thereafter, we spent some time researching the meanings behind both marks:

VV ‘Virgo Virginum’: According to academic research VV (where one v is joined to a second), is a well-known witch mark in both England and in early colonial USA. It represents the phrase ‘Virgo Virginum’ which means Virgin of Virgins (ie. the Virgin Mary). It was used from the 15th century until as late as the mid-18th century and was often carved into a wall or roof beam to protect the home from evil spirits. The marks were to provide the occupants of the farmhouse with a sanctuary from local, evil spirits, rather than other evil spirits which travelled through the night ‘air’, from place to place.

Crescent Moon marks: These marks, once carved, were supposed to address the issue of encouraging good health, not only for the farmer and his family but also his livestock. Again, the marks were supposed to be 'offensive' towards evil spirits and thus provided good protection for the home. They were also supposed to improve fertility within the family and farm animals, although the records are somewhat 'vague' as to its level of success. 'Crescent moon' signs have been found in some of the oldest buildings in the UK, making this mark one of the oldest of witch marks.

A Brief History of Plough Sunday

Plough Sunday is thought to be a very ancient festival, abandoned at the Reformation and then revived in the 19th Century. Traditionally it was celebrated on the first Sunday after Epiphany (which falls on 6 January). The next day, known as Plough Monday, marked the return to work after the Twelve Days of Christmas. In the medieval period, there was generally only one plough in each village (often kept in the church). This village plough would have been cleaned and decorated, and then dragged to the church to be blessed; and prayers would have been said for a good harvest before the start of the new season's work. During the service the 'plough light' was paraded ceremonially. This was a candle kept lit in the church throughout the year (but banned by Henry VIII in 1538).

After the blessing, the plough was pulled through the village again, led by a Fool and a boy dressed as a woman called a 'Betsy'. The procession stopped at as many ale houses as possible for revellers to demand drinks. Pennies were also collected from houses along the route as a contribution towards keeping the plough light going in the church throughout the year - though some say this could have been to boost the kitty for ale at a celebration that evening. In a medieval precursor of 'trick or treat' it would appear that anyone not paying a penny was likely to find a furrow cut across their garden by morning! The day ended with a village feast, ale flowed, and the traditional centrepiece was always a large Plough Pudding. In Cornwall it is said that the revelry could involve 'guise dancing' during which the dancers would go into people's houses and turn the furniture upside-down.

Newspaper reports from the 19th Century indicate that these activities sometimes got out of hand. Here is an extract from the Derby Mercury in 1823:

"We have been requested to state, that in consequence of the outrage and disturbance occasioned of late years by Plough Bullocks, arising chiefly from their commencing their perambulations some hours before day light, it is the determination of the inhabitants of several of the parishes in the country who have been accustomed to entertain them, not to afford the slightest bounty or hospitality to such as on the ensuing Plough Monday, or on any future season, may visit them at untimely hours, or who may not conduct themselves in a peaceable and decorous manner."

The weather didn't deter people coming to carol singing on the Green, though this had to relocate to the chapel. It was enjoyed by all who came and Launceston Town Band didn't end up with dripping instruments! The carol service was led by Rev John Haley. The angels decorating the chapel were very appropriate for the singing of carols. John led the Christmas Day service which was well attended; the service included a short video of the Christmas story. The New Year started with a joint service of several chapels, led by Rev. Haley. Rev David Miller, Superintendent minister for the whole of the Launceston area, took the following week's service and the following week was another joint service with the whole of the Launceston Circuit. A Circuit is a bit like a parish-but covers a different area-just to confuse everyone - self included! Or it did me when I moved to Trebulet. Ann Foster

LUNCH at EAST PENREST BARN

James and Jo Rider would like to thank all who helped to make our lunch on January 11th such a great success; those helping on the day, those who donated raffle prizes, those who donated ingredients for soup, and those who came and joined us in our beautiful Barn and provided the excellent company enjoyed by all!

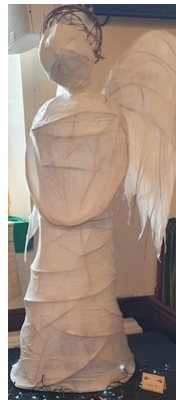

We raised more than £1,100 pounds to help the Launceston Refugee Support Group and Medical Aid for Palestinians. We are feeling overwhelmed by everyone's generosity. MAP has been working with Palestinian communities since the massacre at Sabra & Shatila in 1982, to deliver locally-led health and medical care to those worst affected by conflict, occupation and displacement. The next event at East Penrest will be on Friday September 5th and we will have a Ceilidh Band with a caller

TREBULLETT METHODIST CHURCH

"Wow!" and open mouths was the response from Trekenner School children, when, after singing extremely well at the Lunch Club, they visited the Angel Festival.

With 347 angels (yes three hundred and forty seven!) on display with fairy lights the Trebulet Angel Festival went ahead on the weekend of the storm! With no displays duplicated it was a picture to be seen with various organisations and individual people taking part. These included: an angel cyclist on a bike, by Birds on Bikes women's cycling group, Short Mat bowls provided a tubby angel with a bowl for the body, the W.I., a tree of angels made at their last meeting, an angel advent calendar from the 1960s (no chocolates behind the windows then!), angels climbing Jacobs ladder, knitted ones, crocheted ones, a willow and wet paper angel by Sarah Cole, and many other angels made by groups or individuals-too many people to name individually. The Art Group produced a composite picture which involved all its members in reproducing one large picture. A recycled M&S box was used for the angel made using recycled materials. Two workshops took place-making a willow angel and stencilling an angel, or angels if you were quick. Refreshments were ably catered for in quantity and provision of hot drinks in spite of there being no electricity. Trebulet people are very inventive and do not shy from what seems the impossible! As the weekend was to raise money for SPACE and the storm prevented so many people from coming, it was decided to extend the display and show it again the following weekend. Hence Trekenner school were able to see their angels strung from the chapel ceiling and other groups using the chapel could also see it.

NEWS FROM ST BRIOCHUS, LEZANT

Christmas was celebrated at St Briochus with a most enjoyable Carol Service followed by mulled wine and mince pies and a Communion Crib Service on Christmas Eve. The children, staff, parents and families of Trekenner School joined us for their wonderful Christingle Service with our Rector, the Reverend Sean Clancy. They performed a wonderful selection of poetry and songs.

Following Epiphany, on the 12th January, St Briochus held Plough Sunday, a day to bless the land and the plough, celebrating the work of the farming community.

The next Coffee Morning and Cake Sale will be held on Saturday 08 February at 10.30am in the Church Room, Lezant

Bonney's Cottage, Lower Trebulet, For Sale

We're selling our lovely, detached cottage after (almost) ten happy years. It is a perfectly formed Cornish cottage, and we would love to sell it to someone with a local connection, and certainly to someone who would like to live in it full time. It is a three-bedroom (all doubles) house – with the one downstairs currently set up as an office. We're at the bottom of the hill in Lower Trebulet, Lezant. It's got a stable door, an oil powered Rayburn/central heating, slate and wooden flooring, and a lovely wood burning stove. Some of the cottage dates back more than 250 years, with appropriate additions added over time. We have two gardens, one in front of the house, and a second lovely space just up the hill, with a garage and woodstore. We have loved living here, it's such a quiet, special place with walks from the house in woods, or fields or along the river. If you're interested or would like more information, please do get in touch with Mary on 01566 786772 or email mary.synott@gmail.com It's been valued around £325,000 but we're very open to

On January 8th Malcolm Wright gave us a fascinating in depth talk about the late 18th and 19th century explorers who had searched indefatigably but mostly unsuccessfully for the source of the Nile. He covered early explorations of the other great rivers of Africa, the Zambesi, the Niger and the Congo, using slides to show us contemporaneous maps of Africa and showing paintings of the earlier explorers and—as time went by—early photographs. He included the famous meeting between David Livingstone and Henry Stanley, but shattered our illusions by saying that the words “Dr Livingstone I presume” were a later fabrication.

These European explorers displayed amazing fortitude and determination as they endured many hardships, including illnesses such as sleeping sickness and malaria, impossibly difficult terrain, wild animals and violence from native tribes. The Tsetse flies also killed their horses. Most of these early expeditions were undertaken with the aim of finding trading routes across Africa for the promotion of commerce.

The source was eventually deemed as being in Uganda’s Lake Victoria, but, as Malcolm pointed out, can that actually be considered the case? What about all the rivers which flow into Lake Victoria itself?

After a cup of tea we drew the curtains to find it was snowing heavily. We closed the meeting early to enable members to drive back safely.

PARISH TAXI SCHEME—FOR RESIDENTS OF LEZANT PARISH ONLY

If you are a resident of Lezant Parish, you can claim a subsidy for any taxi journey using Launceston Taxis. (Please note: the taxi cannot be used on a regular basis for commuting between home and work, nor as a school-run vehicle.)

From 01 December 2024 the subsidy will be increased to £7 per single journey (you can also claim £7 for the return journey, if applicable). Please note this increase will be for a limited time only in order to use up reserves - once the grant is exhausted the subsidy will be lowered. Please check the magazine for any updates or contact the clerk. To take advantage of the scheme the taxi must be pre-booked through Launceston Taxis on 07340 813434. The taxi driver will have a form that he will complete. You sign the form and pay the reduced rate to the driver. Please note that the single fares quoted below are for guidance only, and may differ depending on where you are being picked up/ dropped off:
